Staff

Woodstock School has around 150 staff. About half are from India and half are from other parts of the world such as the US, UK, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Singapore. They work in administration, teaching, residences and support services. A majority of the staff members are Christian. What the faculty at Woodstock share in common is a love of learning, a love of the Indian Himalayan environment, and a sense of adventure.

The teaching staff come from India, US, Canada, Australia, South Africa, UK and France. All have relevant certification from their home countries. Their mix of experience and cultures enables Woodstock to develop a truly international teaching approach, and enables students to benefit from a variety of approaches.

The care of our students is largely in the hands of a group of dedicated residence staff (often called "dorm parents"), who work in teams in each of the six school residences. More than just out-of-school supervisors, they work hard to ensure that the students in their care learn personal and life skills, build good relationships with friends, and find creative expressions through sports, games and hobbies.

The myriad of educational and support services in the school are carried out by the support staff. Managing travel and visa services, accounting, alumni relations, communications, catering, campus maintenance and security demand their expertise and attention.
